Stevens Co-op Informational Site

Defining the Problem

One of the main staples of a Steven's education is the opportunity to participate in the Co-op

Program. We feel that the current information website for the Co-op Program is missing some key elements to provide students with a central resource for information about the program. We are proposing a new website that will serve as a central repository for the key information about what a Co-op at Stevens has to offer.

Solutions

- Must contain a page for an overview of the co-op program in paragraph form
- Must contain a page listing requirements for eligibility
- Should contain a page giving short examples of companies and positions for past co-ops
- Must contain a page explaining the scheduling changes students must undergo
- Must contain a page containing testimonials from current/former co-op students
- Students must be able to submit a form to receive additional information

Constraints

- Must be complete by the end of the semester
- Should be easy to navigate between pages via a navigation bar
- The team will have a budget of $0
- Team members should each only have to work a maximum of two hours per week
- Site front end cannot rely on back end

Measuring Success

- Site functions properly in the latest stable versions of Chrome and FireFox
- Site is compliant with the Stevens Visual Identity Guide to a practical extent
